

ERS MARITIME SECURITY SERVICE

Executive Risk System (ERS) Ltd. is a global corporate security and risk management company specialising in providing International Protective Services, Corporate Security and Risk Management services to governments, multinational organizations and the energy sector in emerging and high-risk markets.

Has successfully provided armed and unarmed maritime security solutions to the highest industry standards. Our significant experience of maritime operations combined with our longstanding reputation for quality and safety makes us the right choice for maritime security services in the high-risk areas.

We pay particular attention to the quality of a carefully selected pool of specialist consultants, all Veteran ex Defense Force and Law Enforcement from different country, all of whom are fully trained and qualified with significant experience of providing maritime security services.

Providing professional armed and unarmed security teams to mitigate threats whilst seamlessly integrating with the yacht and crew.

We discreetly support a large number of super-yachts navigating high-risk waters and are well known within the super-yacht industry for our professional approach. We recognize that supporting our client's onboard yachts requires a dynamic team who can integrate with the crew, be discrete and culturally aware to the working nature of the yacht.

We support our client's with armed and unarmed services both offshore and onshore if required with qualified close protection personnel. Our Super-yacht personnel receive additional training on yacht etiquette, general bearing and the expected conduct on board. Our standard operating procedures (SOPs) are adapted to ensure the vessel is protected from all aggressors, whether in port or at sea.
